COLLECTION OF ELECTRONIC MAIL NAMES & ADDRESSES

In order to improve communication and encourage collaboration across the insurance research community, I have been organizing an Electronic Mail (E-Mail) Directory by using a 'chain letter' approach. Thus far almost 80 E-Mail correspondents' names, affiliations and addresses have been collected from 19 countries, primarily from academics using Internet, Bitnet, or their national equivalents.

If you are part of the actuarial science, insurance mathematics or economics, risk theory, etc. community, broadly defined, and wish to participate, please send an EMAX to me c/o: giving your full name, academic or business affiliation, a very brief postal address, and the external form of your E-Mail address. We especially want to encourage participation from governmental bureaus, research institutes, and insurance companies that are using commercial networks.

< wsj@euler.Berkeley.edu > ,
